

Instructions for Preparing for Delivery of a Barrel Sauna

Congratulations on your purchase of a barrel sauna! Before we can deliver your new sauna, there are a few important steps you need to take to ensure a smooth and safe installation process. Please follow these instructions carefully:

- Choose a location for your barrel sauna that is flat, level, and has good drainage. The area should be at least six and a half feet wide and clear of any obstacles.

- Prepare the platform on which the sauna will be installed. You have two options: you can use gravel or you can use cement slabs. If you choose to use gravel, dig out the area where the sauna will sit and fill it with gravel to create a stable base. If you choose to use cement slabs, place them in a level pattern to create a solid foundation. The platform should be at least the same size as the base of the sauna.

Note: The base of sauna is 4' wide by the length of the model that you chose.

- Contact an electrician in case if you choose an electric stove. We do not install the stove and you will need an electrician to connect the stove with a 220V wire.

- We strongly suggest that you look at your city or community regulations to make sure that they permit to install an Electric or a wood burning sauna.

- Make sure that the access route for delivery is clear and unobstructed. This includes any gates or narrow passages that may need to be navigated to reach the installation site. As a rule, there should be at least six and a half feet wide clearance on the route to the installation site.

- Please note that in case if you do not have a clear passage to deliver the sauna assembled, we can assemble the sauna on location, but additional fees will apply. Please contact us for more details.

- On the day of delivery, ensure that someone is present to receive the shipment and sign for it. The sauna will arrive assembled.

We hope this information helps you prepare for the arrival of your new barrel sauna. If you have any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to contact us for assistance.

- We will get in touch with you to make sure that you are ready for delivery and we will go over some delivery details over the phone with you.
